The Story of Voodoo

Those who practice Voodoo believe that there are two worlds; the visible and the invisible. The fragile balance of life and death ensure these worlds remain intertwined in perfect balance. The loa are responsible taking and giving life - they choose to help or hinder those living in the visible world. Praise of and offerings to the spirits; allow us mortals to possess the powers and benefits of both worlds.

Our Blends

· LIGHT BLEND ·

AGWE

Agwe is the loa of direction. His territory is the winds, currents, waves and depths of the oceans. He provides guidance whenever an individual needs; particularly in times of loss, or indecision.

HINTS:

Milk Chocolate, Almond Nougat, Praline and Blueberry with a clean citrus acidity and medium body. Delicious & vibrant as a black coffee or smooth and silky with milk.

BARON SAMEDI

Samedi is a loa of the dead. He is associated with obscenity, debauchery, and having a particular fondness for tobacco and rum. He can cure any mortal of any disease or wound, if he thinks it is worthwhile.

HINTS:

Dutched cocoa, sweet toffee, leather, tobacco, and malt with a creamy, full body and subtle acidity. Perfect blend with milk for a rich and satisfying finish.

GRAN BWA

Gran Bwa is an elemental, nature-oriented loa who has ownership of trees, plants and herbs. He is associated with healing and secrets, as he hides certain things from the prying eyes of the uninitiated.

HINTS:

Honey sweetness, lively acidity, forest berries, almond and chocolate. Full bodied with a smooth buttery finish.
